Dear Sir or Madam:

Re: Delta Air Lines Inc. v. Dr. Gábor Lukács
Supreme Court of Canada File No. 37276

This letter is in reply to the Respondent's July 5, 2017, response to the Canadian Transportation Agency's motion for an extension of time for service of its motion for intervention.

The Agency acknowledges that it is required to comply with the Rules of the Supreme Court of Canada.

With respect to the Respondent's acknowledgment of service of the Agency's Notice of Name, this was received at the same time as the Agency's materials in support of its motion for an extension of time were being finalized. The Agency's memorandum was not updated in time to reflect this development but the Respondent did acknowledge receipt as he suggests.

Finally, there is no basis for the Respondent's request for costs. He has no costs as he has not opposed the Agency's motion and has taken no position with respect thereto. He is not prejudiced because he has already filed a response to the Agency's motion for intervention. In fact, any costs that have been incurred are attributable solely to the Respondent's refusal to agree to a 2 day extension as a result of an error made by the Agency in using ".com" at the end of his email address instead of the correct ".ca".

Yours truly,

Allan Matte
